

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface	7
1. An Introduction to Donor Intent	10
The legacy of Julius Rosenwald
Perpetuity and donor intent at the Duke Endowment
When donor intent is lost
Advice on donor intent from philanthropists and their observers
Why donor intent matters
Sidebar: Separating donor intent and grant compliance
Planning ahead
2. Defining Your Mission	20
The ingredients of an effective mission statement
Identifying operating principles
Involving people you trust
Supplementing your mission statement
What a great mission statement can—and cannot—do
3. Choosing a Timeframe for Donating Assets	31
Giving it all away while living
Giving while living and time-limiting what remains
The advantages of time-limiting your philanthropy
Sidebar: Model donor—Raikes Foundation
When boards decide to sunset
A final word on sunseting
Sidebar: Model donor—John M. Olin Foundation
Creating a perpetual entity
Codifying donor intent after the donor’s death
Sidebar: Model donor—Lynde and Harry Bradley Foundation
Donor intent in family foundations: A unique challenge
Sidebar: Tips for involving family while protecting donor intent
When money and family collide

4. Finding the Right Vehicle For Your Mission	59
Private non-operating foundations
Sidebar: Selecting a jurisdiction for charitable trusts
Private operating foundations
Philanthropic LLCs
Sidebar: Domicile considerations: Where to incorporate?
Donor-advised funds
Community foundations
Supporting organizations
Philanthropic partnerships
5. Governance	82
Cultivating board members
Sidebar: Questions to ask prospective board members
Considering a tiered structure for your board
Compensating your board members
Setting time limits on board service
Planning for board succession
Establishing board policies to protect your intent
Establishing external safeguards for your intent
Achieving balance with your safeguards
Sidebar: The special governance challenge of living donors
6. Hiring, Operations, and Grantmaking Consistent with Donor Intent	102
Hiring staff for your mission
Establishing grantmaking principles and practices
7. Giving Wisely to Colleges and Universities	108
Wise giving in higher education
Sidebar: When donors demand accountability
Guidance for effective grantmaking in higher education

8. Recovering Donor Intent When Things Go Wrong	128
Building on the bedrock of a donor's principles: Daniels Fund
The moral authority of a living donor: Atlantic Philanthropies
Recovering a legacy for the future: Triad Foundation
Precautions for recovering your intent
9. Conclusion	138
Acknowledgments	141
Index	142
About The Philanthropy Roundtable	150
About the Author	154